

Next Installment of the Newport Insect Images

(click on image to enlarge)

*Why do you suppose I call this Cerambycid beetle {Clytus ruricola} the 'French Longhorn?'
Hint: why is it HERE?*

(click on image to enlarge)

An amazing shot of a Flower Fly (Syrphid) called Dasysyrphus [albostriatus] It seems to have landed on Marshall's back pack

(click on image to enlarge)

The Pygmy Mole Cricket (Ellipes minutus) can be found along the river bluffs, living in mud cracks & under rocks. (It's about 0.5 cm long)